

WoF news 19 out now

WoF news 19 is out now and can be downloaded here.

Note that WoF news 19 is the same as the WoF news supplementary issue August 2013 that was mailed out to WoF sites this week (apologies for any confusion this may cause).

Further to the recent press release about the WoF frequency changes, the WoF News explains the changes in a bit more detail, including when the changes will take effect, why we have a two-phase approach and the new WoF labels that will be available later this year.

If you have any questions about the content of this WoF news, please let us know by using the feedback button on this page. We will provide further detailed information and answer any common questions in the next WoF news.